The University of St. Francis Library makes stringent efforts to maintain high levels of security involving any personal or identifying information collected from patrons while providing them with the highest quality of library services. It is our policy to never collect or archive personal information in our library computer systems for periods of time longer than necessary, and to limit access to patron information to staff members who require access to carry out the library's responsibilities. Personal information collected by the library is never made available for commercial purposes, and will never be given to any third party except in the case of process, court order or subpoena as required by law.
